

Submitter Institution: Dartmouth College
Submitter Phone: 603 646-3378
Department: Geography Department
Position Title: Assistant Professor in Black Geographies

Qualifications: Applicants should have a PhD in Geography or related field, or be ABD with PhD expected before the start date of their appointment as Faculty Fellow. Preference will be given to applicants who have held a PhD less than 3 years.

Application Procedures: Please submit: a letter of application (including statements of research trajectory and teaching interests) of up to four pages, curriculum vitae, writing samples (up to three), and names and contact information for three referees by 15 October 2019. Apply online to: apply.interfolio.com/67305 Inquiries should be directed to Search Committee Chair Susanne Freidberg at geography@dartmouth.edu.

Other Information: The Department of Geography at Dartmouth College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in Black Geographies. We seek individuals whose research and classroom teaching interests might include, but are not limited to: Black socio-spatial productions as critical interventions into white supremacy and racial capitalism; Black historical and future geographies; Blackness as constitutive of the production of difference; Blackness as produced by and productive of space across a range of geographical contexts; and the role of Blackness in the production of nature-society relations. The successful qualified candidate will be appointed initially as a Faculty Fellow, a two-year residential postdoctoral appointment. After this two-year period, the position will convert to a regular tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. Faculty Fellows are part of a cohort of faculty committed to increasing diversity in their disciplines. The Department of Geography (geography.dartmouth.edu) seeks candidates who engage research epistemologies and scholarly/critical traditions not well-represented in the discipline, and whose interests complement the teaching and research profile of the department's faculty. This profile includes: urban studies, critical health studies, spatial sciences, migration, feminist geographies, and political ecology. Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women and gender non-conforming individuals, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should thus state in their cover letter how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Application Deadline: October 15, 2019