

Submitter Institution: University of Scranton
Submitter Phone: 570-941-7630
Department: Psychology
Position Title: Tenure-track assistant professor of psychology

Institution is Seeking: The University of Scranton Department of Psychology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of psychology beginning in August 2021. This search is part of a broader cluster hiring approach, which will contribute to the development of Black Studies at the University.

Qualifications: Applicants should have a PhD, PsyD, or ABD in psychology; the specialty area is open but the successful applicant will teach abnormal psychology or psychological testing plus a course in their area of expertise. Clinical, counseling, and school psychologists must have received their doctorate from an APA-accredited program and completed an APA-accredited internship. The Department can furnish supervision toward psychology licensure, if desired.

Application Procedures: Review of applications will begin on January 18, 2021. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please submit a cover letter (which includes teaching experience and research statement), curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, and evidence of teaching quality (e.g., teaching evaluations). Please also provide a statement that indicates your commitment to diversity and inclusion and how this informs your pedagogy. Three letters of recommendation are also requested. For further information about the Psychology Department, visit our web page at <http://scranton.edu/academics/cas/psychology/>

Other Information:

The University of Scranton is located in northeastern Pennsylvania, in the rolling foothills of the Pocono Mountains. Scranton is a small city with a vibrant arts community, just a two-hour drive to New York City and Philadelphia. The University of Scranton embraces diversity and inclusion through its mission, Jesuit identity, strategic plans, community outreach programs, and numerous diversity programs. The University of Scranton is an Equal Opportunity employer and actively solicits applications from diverse candidates. Please see our website at www.scranton.edu/equity-diversity/ for our full non-discrimination statement. The University is a community dedicated to the freedom of inquiry and personal development fundamental to the growth in wisdom and integrity of all who share its life. The University is a Catholic and Jesuit University animated by the spiritual vision and the tradition of excellence characteristic of the Society of Jesus and those who share in its way of proceeding.

Application Deadline:

Review of applications will begin on January 18, 2021. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Do not post after:

January 18, 2021