

Submitter Institution: University of Oregon

Submitter Phone: 541-346-1506

Department: Global Studies

Position Title: Assistant Professor of Global Studies

Institution is Seeking: The Department of Global Studies at the University of Oregon seeks a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor in Global Political Economy to start in Fall 2023. We seek a scholar who holds a Ph.D. in a relevant social science, humanities, or interdisciplinary program by the time of appointment and whose expertise addresses one or more of these areas in qualitative and/or quantitative perspective: economic globalization and its political and social impacts; international political economic institutions and processes; debt, dependency, and the legacies of colonization; and the relationships between global political economy, human development, and development strategies and policies. We are especially interested in candidates who take critical, interdisciplinary, and decolonial approaches to the global political economy; and whose teaching and research complement core foci in our department, including food systems, education, global health and wellbeing, and environment and climate change. In their application materials, candidates should address how their work supports the diversity and equity goals of the department and the university, should describe a robust research agenda, and should demonstrate a high degree of proficiency in a language appropriate for their regional specialization. We particularly welcome applications from scholars who identify with populations historically underrepresented in the academy and/or who have a proven record of mentoring students from underrepresented backgrounds.

Qualifications: Minimum Requirements • PhD by the time of appointment • Proficiency in a language appropriate to the candidate's geographic area of focus • Ability to teach Globalization and the Global Economy • Successful record of peer-reviewed publications as relevant to level of seniority • Demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion Preferred Qualifications • Proven record of mentoring students from underrepresented backgrounds • Interdisciplinary, critical, and/or decolonial foci in scholarship • Successful record of external support for research as relevant to level of seniority

Application Procedures:

Required Application Materials Applicants should submit the following: 1) A cover letter describing their research and teaching interests, 2) Curriculum vitae, 3) One-page or less statement outlining their commitment and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion. The search committee will request letters of reference and supplemental materials from candidates who advance after the first round of review.

Other Information:

Link to job posting: <https://careers.uoregon.edu/en-us/job/529427/assistant-professor-of-global-studies>

Application Deadline: October 15, 2022; position open until filled

Do not post after: October 31, 2022