

Submitter Institution: Cornell University

Cornell University

Submitter Phone: 607-255-6737

Department: History

Position Title: Administrative Manager

Institution is Seeking: Postdoctoral Fellow (2 Year), Freedom on the Move

Qualifications: Freedom on the Move, a multi-institution digital history project based at Cornell, seeks a two-year postdoctoral fellow to join a team that is building a free and open digital archive of all extant North American "runaway slave" ads. A successful candidate will bring subject-relevant expertise in areas such as the history of marronage, Black resistance, freedom-seeking, and/or racialized policing. Research methodologies may include humanistic approaches to GIS (Geographic Information Systems); digital humanities, or other relevant approaches. Working with FOTM leadership, the post-doc will contribute to the continued growth of the project. In addition, the post-doc will be expected to: 1) advance their research program; 2) teach one class per academic year in a relevant discipline, and 3) help manage and mentor graduate students working for FOTM. Responsibility, initiative, and the ability to work collaboratively are essential.

Application Procedures: AJO Link: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/24191>
Candidates should submit the following materials for consideration via AJO by March 15, 2022 for full consideration. - Cover letter that includes a statement of current and future research plans - Curriculum vitae - Statement specifying applicant's work towards inclusive and equitable research or teaching practices. Details here: <https://facultydevelopment.cornell.edu/statement-of-contribution-to-diversity-equity-and-inclusion-for-faculty-applicants> - Names of three people who can write letters of reference if the candidate advances to the video interview stage

Other Information: <https://freedomonthemove.org/>

Application Deadline: March 15, 2023

Do not post after: March 15, 2023