

SUNY New Paltz Vacancy
External Posting (Faculty)

The Department of Black Studies at SUNY New Paltz is one of the first and oldest of its kind in the nation. Devoted to the exploration and analysis of the history and culture of African people in the United States, Caribbean, and Africa, Black Studies defines the Black experience from an African and Afro-American perspective and seeks to illuminate the contribution of African people to world culture, and correct a traditional approach to the study of world history that has tended to bypass the African Diaspora experience.

Applications are invited for consideration for appointment to the following position:

Black Studies Department

Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor of Black Studies

Duties: Candidates are expected to teach six courses (18 credits) per year, participate in department and university service, and maintain a record of published scholarship.

Required: A PhD in Black Studies (or related area), English or another area in the Humanities with a specialization in African American Literature and/or Black Feminist Theory. Exceptional ABD candidates with a definite completion date will be considered.

Preferred:

- Post-secondary teaching experience highly desired
- Experience mentoring and/or advising students with diverse backgrounds highly desired.
- Evidence of a serious commitment to scholarship; record of outstanding teaching; commitment to teaching, research, and service, and to the mission of public higher education.
